Social that the motorman, Watson Kruger, paid no attention to his rulings, McKnight pulled a pistol and forced him to dismount. Then he took charge of the car himself, and for the next few minutes he made better time than has ever been witnessed on the electric-lighted course over in Newtown.

Standing on the front piatform with one hand on the lever and the other grasping his gun, the rum-inflamed Mc-Knight sent the car flying along the rails at a terrific rate of speed. The passengers, terror-stricken, had mostly fied when he pulled the pistol on Motorman Kruger, but the conductor kept to his post on the rear platform doubtful as to whether it was better to keen still and say nothing or interfere and get shot.

As it neared the corner of Broadway and Flushing avenue, Policeman Helling saw the on-rushing car and its crazy motorman. Four street car lines meet at that point and disaster seemed imminent.

Helling, however, was equal to the emergency. Swinging onto the rear of the platform, he dashed through the car to the floor with a well-directed blow of his night-stick. Then he shut off the current, stopping the car just as lit

Complainant Against Reidy Again

Fails to Appear. (Special to The Evening World.) LONG SLAND CITY, L. I., Sept 20.- The case against Frank Reidy, who is charged with assaulting William ty, was again adjourned in Justice ngram's court this morning, because leved that Rigney has been induced by politicians to refrain from prosecuting. The matter will probably be brought to the attention of the Grand Jury.

Reidy's alleged offense was committed on the night of July 31, when the Patsy Bannon Association, of which Reidy is a shining light, gave a chowder. A good-sized riot characterized the closing scenes of the chowder, and Policeman Julius Schroeder, of Astoria, and Szecial Policeman William Rigney were this handled. The country charivari has divided the people in the vicinity of South Plain-field into two hostile camps. Some of the neighbors side with Mrs. Fitzgerald, while others side with Mrs. Fitzgerald, while others side with Miss Manley. Those who have had their dresses spoiled naturally sympathize with Miss Manley. Those who were disturbed by the noise of the serenaders, on the other hand, claim that Mrs. Fitzgerald could scarcely be blamed for her act. They assert that it was only when driven almost frantic by the noise of the tom-toms, snare drums and tin pans that she caught up a jar of brine and threw it at the crowd gathered in the street. Mrs. Fitzgerald, in her testimony, claimed that the liquid could not have injured the dresses in the manner described by the plaintiff.

On the other hand there are those who assert that Mrs. Fitzgerald could, not be telling the truth when she says the liquid was only a jar of brine, that it must have been something stronger.

The case is unique in the history of legal suits in this country, and the outcome will be closely watched as defining the status of persons who gather to "serenade" a newly married couple.

was deposed. Out of a total of forty votes cast she only received five. It is expected that many resignations will follow.

Mrs. Dodd keeps a hotel called the American House, and the opposition to her was on the ground that the temptation to sell liquor in the hotel was great. In fact, she was charged with selling it, but she said that only on one occasion did she supply it, when a guest was sick. Even then she had to send to a drug store for it. Similar charges of keeping liquor at home for "emergencies" were made against other members. suing the Consolidated Traction Com-
